WE NOMINATE

Martin Luther Beck and Kenneth Stone Kassler, Princeton-based and Princeton-trained architects, who have brought unusual recognition to this community with their recent election as Fellows of the American Institute of Architects, honors tantamount to receiving honorary "honorary degrees" in one's own profession. Marking the first time in nearly 20 years that New Jersey architects have been accorded this signal distinction, the 59-year old Beck and the 55-year old Kassler rank among the State's architectural trail-blazers—the former in the fields of higher education and planning and the latter in the "science of construction."

In the careers of these two able Princetonians there is a similar, and refreshing, degree of affinity in that both feel strongly about public service and translate their convictions into positive action. Both have taught, have given freely of their time to educational institutions and have been willing to invest long hours in the work of public appointive bodies. Kassler, a former chairman of the Borough "Zoning Board," is a member of the Township's Committee on Multiple Housing, while Beck is the newly-elected chairman of the Borough's Planning Board and is on the threshold of a six-year term with that board.

The ever-changing Princeton scene is dotted with illustrations of their practice of the highly specialized "trade" of architecture. Beck, Hungarian-born and a member of the University Faculty for nearly two decades, is represented by this area's second most-visited building (Nassau Hall being the first), the celebrated Walker-Gordon Rotolactor, and the University's Cosmic Ray Laboratory. Among Kassler's contributions are his own West Lafayette Road residence, the combined YM-YW (a joint venture with Sherley W. Morgan), PMI's new (1957) Nassau Street office building and the Applied Science Corporation Laboratories.

Beck, a member of the New Jersey Board of Architects since 1957, is presently in charge of the stupendous building program envisioned by Rutgers University, including the strikingly visible, high-rise dormitories along the banks of the Raritan River. This far-reaching responsibility embraces the State University's development plan in Newark, the Newark Law Center, and the mushrooming facilities for the School of Agriculture. Linked with this "evolutionary process" are Beck's previous associations with firms handling the planning for the University of Mexico and Highlands University.

A native of Denver, Colo., and a registered architect in New York, Pennsylvania and Maine as well as in New Jersey, Kassler—in the opinion of one associate—has experimented boldly and wisely with "new building and design techniques." He has used thin-shell concrete in the shape of a cone as an economical roof-form, notably in his own home; multiple light control panels; "stressed skin and curtain-wall construction" on lightweight steel frames, thereby reducing the weight of wood stud-and-sill buildings; and modular furniture and storage units contributing to the adaptability of modern homes.

For meriting the honors that are being conferred upon them by their fellow architects; for adding still another dimension to Princeton's tradition as a center of education and research; for distinguished service to their profession—and in their community; these two men are Town Topics' nominees for

GREEN REPLACES WHITE

As Winter Retires, Grudgingly, The coldest two weeks of March the warmest two weeks of April. U. S. Weather Bureau history are now a matter of record. For the immediate future, the news was even better: Spring, set to arrive on March 20, 1960, will make its presence felt even before that time with temperatures that will move well up into the 50's, accompanied by warm, sunshiny days.

The third week of 1960 has already produced a series of developments that have intrigued meteorologists, frustrated various segments of the population, from sunworshippers to Green Thumbs, and sent winter sports fans skating (picture, p. 3), skiing and tobogganing over New Jersey's countryside that is normally showing signs of spring. Statistically, it was unlikely to be duplicated for many a year to come.

For example: • The average temperature for the first 14 days of March was 24.2-14 degrees below normal for that period. It is looking like that has occurred in more than three-quarters of a century of Weather Bureau record-taking.

James E. Brith (picture above) has been "peeling" between Oceanside and Princeton, reports that of the two, Princeton has had more snow this month.

• From March 1 to March 13, the thermometer never produced an official reading above freezing. It dropped to ten last Wednesday.

What Happened? Weather expert David R. Ludum of the Princeton-based Science Associates makes a business of studying hourly developments in this field, told Town Topics that "probably the coldest air front from the northwest Canada had no opposition in finding its way to the Atlantic seaboard for a good two weeks. The normal storm track and the jet stream were much farther south than normal," Mr. Ludum said. "As a result, the cold air from Canada and Alaska flowed steadily in a southeasterly direction, completely dominating the weather picture in New Jersey."

As far as the March 3 blizzard was concerned, Mr. Ludum reports that "the amount of snow was much more than most of the rest of New Jersey. We had about eight or nine inches here," he said, "while in some places no more than one or two inches." At one point 40 miles west of Princeton, he got almost two feet." The Catskill Mountain area in southern New York State experienced a 44-inch fall that day, giving it an accumulation of 100 inches.

Before winter came to an official end on Sunday, there was a good chance of snow or cold rain on Tuesday, a pair of weather experts concurred, and it had indeed more snow to the east. Plain States, and another moving up the Atlantic seaboard from Georgia and the Carolinas, could bring considerable snowfall, here. Precipitation would follow—but nothing compared to the big snow of March 3.

"The cold wave," Mr. Ludum said, "is about over. A warm mass of air from the Pacific will dominate our weather for the next few days, making its presence felt on Wednesday." By the weekend, it will be considerably warmer than it has been so far this month. "Spring," he said—and the forecast was the most welcome in months—"will arrive on schedule."

SITES PIN-POINTED

For Public Housing. Meeting in special session on Saturday after noon, the Township Council unanimously adopted—with one member expressing reservations—a resolution proposing alternative sites for public housing should the plan to build them in the Township fail to materialize.

According to the new resolution, amended from the original resolution introduced by Councilman Dan D. Coyle, the proposed sites are: 14-18 Witherspoon Lane, 32-34 Witherspoon Lane, the lot south of the eastern end of Spruce Street, and the lot at the southwest corner of Franklin and Princeton Street North.

There would also be seven geriatric units located on the corner of Witherspoon Street and Witherspoon Lane. These would be for both elderly couples and single elderly persons.

Councilman Rechard Lester voted for the resolution, but expressed his disappointment that Council had not included the Borrough property on the western side of Elm-Road, just south of Mountain Avenue on the old Borrough sewer field, in the original zoning proposal from Mr. Lester that Mrs. Coyle had withdrawn his original resolution and asked for a special Council meeting to consider amending the zoning.

Mr. Lester had objected to the fact that all the original sites were in the Witherspoon area. The Public Housing Administration had three alternative Borrough sites on file in the case of the Township River Road site are not available.

ROUND-UP

This week's "Mailbox" (pages 29-30) continues to record Princetonians' thoughts on a variety of topics, ranging from capital punishment and fluoridated water, legalized lotteries, the arts and music. Opinions also include an unusually large number of reviews of weekend performances here... presidential politics is the theme of "Question of the Week," page 15.

For the first time in a decade or more, a license to hunt is available in the Borrough, and application may be made through the clerk, Robert F. Mooney, at Borrough Hall... car owners who have long been annoyed by New Jersey's policy of issuing only one registration certificate per car may soon be able to buy duplicates (at $2 each) for all license numbers in the family... following each car's car registration in his wallet... legislation to that effect is likely to be passed this year... registration fees may also be raised $1 to each weight classification to underwrite the cost of the annual car inspections.

ADENAUER HONORED

In Chapel Convocation Dr. Konrad Adenauer, Chancellor of the Federal Republic of Germany, was given an honorary doctor of laws degree from Princeton University by President Robert F. Goheen Monday night in a special chapel convocation. It was the 11th honorary degree for the 84-year-old statesman. (Picture, page 11.)

The convocation, the first to honor an individual since the meeting was held, drew an overflow crowd of more than 3,000. The ceremony opened a series of lectures and discussions at the University entitled "Germany: Problems and Prospects."

Speaking in German, the Chancellor reaffirmed that free Germany's "policy and security must be based on the basic principles of our friendship with America." He also cited the Berlin problem as "the restitution of the right of self-determination for 16 million Germans in the Soviet zone of occupation."

He stated that efforts should be devoted above all to the question of controlled disarmament for civilians, as well as conventional weapons, and also warned of the propaganda and promises of the Soviet Union. At the end of his speech Dr. Adenauer was given a prolonged ovation by the crowd, which filled the aisles and was seated on the balcony steps.

The citation of the degree was read by Dr. Fordyce B. St. John, Charter Trustee—Emeritus, and University Trustee, or Dr. Adenauer stood quietly before President Goheen. It opened with the word "Dr. Konrad Adenauer, Chancellor of the Federal Republic of Germany." He then spoke little, except combating the corrosive effects of nationalism and war..."

FULL SLATES FILED

For April 13 elections, candidates for Borough Council seats last week for the vacancies that will occur on Borough Council and Township Committee in November. These will be held in contests in the April 13 primaries.

The four nominees for two Borough Council seats, to be vacated by Councilmen Richard D. Goss and Richard A. Lester: Albert J. Kesten (R), 10 Princeton Avenue, Assistant Professor in the Department of English at Rutgers University.

Edward W. Godfrey (R), 12 Hunter Road, Director of the X-ray Department of Princeton Hospital.

Robert W. Van de Velde, (D), 222 Western Way, faculty member at Princeton University.

Gordon T. Waldron (D), 22 Wilson Road, proprietor of Soups to Nuts, Spring Street restaurant.

Township Committee candidates: R. Kenneth Fairman (R), Rosedale Lane, Director of Athletics at Princeton University and currently Township Mayor.

Maurice F. Healy Jr. (R), 1108 Princeton-Kingston Road, executive at Personal Products, New Brunswick.

Richard T. Frost, 90 Wheat-shed Lane, faculty member at Princeton University.

Simon F. Moss, (D), 433 Walnut Lane, a teacher at the Witherspoon School, Quarry Street.

Robson Unopposed. Stuart Robson (R), 29 Rollingmead, a teacher at Princeton Country Day School, will be elected to Princeton as tax assessor. Princeton Township without opposition.

Democrats in that municipality said that they have made no nomination because they believe that this position is one calling for special training and high technical competence, and has no place in party politics. Urging their nomination, however, removed from the ballot by giving it Civil Service status, they will in the meantime agree that Mr. Robson should continue as assessor.

PLANS NEW DEVELOPMENT

In Howe Tract. Preliminary plans for a new development of 40 homes to be built in the Howe tract by the Princeton Construction Company, laid before the Township Planning Board Monday night. The houses would be built on land bounded by Riverside Drive, Princeton Avenue, Woodside Lane and the rear of properties on Howe Circle.

Several property owners in the vicinity appeared at Monday night's hearing to express their feelings about the amount of traffic that already is using Woodside Lane and Riverside Drive en route to the new Riverside School.

Because of these objections, P.A. was asked to realign the two streets in its development—Rome Circle and Philip Drive—so that they would bisect the development and connect Riverside and Prospect.

The problems and disputes between Princeton Construction Company and residents of Howe Drive area were apparently settled Monday night when the Planning Board accepted Princeton Construction's plans to move Vernon Circle about 90 feet southward, and to move the corner of Adams Drive residents Harold E. Switzigle, Jr., of Adams Drive, produced an alternative plan, which would have moved Vernon Circle along a filled-in gully to the south, but the Board rejected this plan. Six houses will be built in this area.

ENGINEER NAMED

In Township, James E. Breth, 222 Western Way, has been appointed Township Engineer, effective March 14. He succeeds Calvin O. Schofield, who resigned March 1.

A native of Cresson, Pa., Mr. Breth has made his home in Princeton for the past four years. For the previous year, 1958 to 1960—he has been a committer to Sonderstrom, Greenland.

SCUFFLE WITH PICKETS

In Segregation Protest, University undergraduates picketed Woolworth's in protest against southern stores' counter segregation practiced by the chain of stores were involved Saturday afternoon in a brief scuffle with a group of high school students and by a few other undergraduates.

Through police and University proctors restored order. There were no arrests and no injuries, and the picketing continued up, the police had been broken up.

According to police, the trouble began when undergraduates from the Colonial Club, an eating club with many southern members, joined a few Princeton high school students and began to picket the Woolworth's. The picketers, undergraduates, had decided that the snowballers were largely members of Colonial.

Planning began at 1 p.m. Over 40 pickets carrying signs reading "Found million-dollar bigotry in a five-and-ten-cent store," and so on, marched in front of the store until 4 p.m. R. Palmer Morris, a member of the class of 1962 at Princeton, had proposed the picketing in a letter to the Daily Princetonian, saying, "I think our world policy of segregated lunch counters is totally counter to the spirit of racial equality and human dignity on which the United States tries to pride itself."

The Princeton Woolworth's manager, B. L. Wampler, issued a statement in which he said, "Woolworth's is not at fault here. Some of the picketers are Negro. What stores do down south is no reflection on the company."

Both white and Negro customers crossed Saturday's picket line. Between 200 and 300 students and townspersons watched the demonstration and at one point, a guitarist and a bongo drummer beat out a rhythm for the marchers.

Students who took part in the picketing said they had sent a

March snows are falling
 But the winter cardinal Says "Cheer! Cheer! Cheer!"

—KATHY

A Town Topic reader turned to the classic form of Japanese verse (three lines, 17 syllables) to record the present weather story: As the cardinal points out, there's hope for the winter, with spring speedily to make its bone Sunday morning.

Before that, the part about March snows falling could be true, too. Princeton, in some form, is forecast for Thursday, followed by clearer skies and warmer temperatures. By the weekend, it might even be downright balmy.

Letter of apology to Mr. Wampler, expressing the hope that his actions had not hurt his business.

CASE DISMISSED

For Lack of Evidence. Ten men and women arrested at 26 Lytle Street and accused of gambling were freed yesterday. Commissioner of Police R. Palmer Morris had dismissed the charges because of insufficient evidence. The eleventh defendant, Mrs. Jean Stewart of Trenton, was unable to be present Monday and her hearing was adjourned.

Borough police under Sgt. Robert J. Anderson raided the partners at 26 Lytle Street March 6 after an anonymous phone call from a neighbor. They found a marked deck of cards, but no cash or money. They were unable to prove ownership of the cards or to prove that any of the persons arrested knew that the deck was marked.

Police said that four of the defendants had previous gambling convictions. They are Stanford Bingham, 36, 21 Jackson Street; Ferenc Rudnai, 36, 15 Franklin Street; Harry John Richardson, 31, 67 Lincoln Avenue, and Willy Hoffman, 40, 117 Liberty Street, Hightstown.

The others are Henry Owens, 46, 14 Quarry Street; Albert Parks, 40, 37 Clay Street; Samuel Johnston, 41, who leases the property at 26 Lytle Street, and was not present when the arrests were made; John Jackson, 31, 824 Hoffman Avenue, Trenton; Thomas Crawford, 56, 61 Race Street and

News Of The Theatres

It might be said that Moliere's never worn out, that one can listen to them over and over again without getting sick of them. But the true reason for Le Misanthrope's popularity is perhaps a little different. In that play can be found not only a brilliant example of Moliere's sarcasm and humanity, but something else, a true French way of love.

The play, as Moliere wrote it, almost 300 years ago, concerns itself almost the misanthropist Alceste, who is revolted by the social hypocrisy of the "saints." "Dieu, mon Dieu, je vous prie ('please leave me alone') is his ouverture motto.

One can very well imagine how such a man could find cause to grumble about the society of Versailles; never was Paris society as sophisticated as under the reign of Louis XIV. There were, actually, around 1660, a few misanthropes in France, but they resided in their country estates, far from Paris and the court of Versailles.

The man with whom Alceste is in a misanthropic and in some times a brilliant society lady, Célimène, whom he would like to marry. He will not, of course, succeed in persuading her that his charming faithless, flirtatious woman to abandon her life and go away to the country with him. Alceste will leave Paris and retire with Célimène to a villa, but he will do so alone, and the play ends on his rather tragic and already romantic decision.

This is the plot that Moliere wrote. This is the play which was given for the first time on June 4, 1666. (A note we have good reason to suspect that Moliere looked for a wife with Armande as model for the coquette Célimène's character).

But with the centuries, Le Misanthrope has evolved into something very different. Alceste and Célimène are no longer simply Moliere characters. They have become myths. The myth of impossible sincerity, the myth of impossible love, is especially true of the latter. As the actress and critic Dusé put it, "Célimène came to be, after having been represented by an extradramatic Cecile Sorel, a feminine counterpart of Louis XIV, the royal incarnation of woman, the Sun-Queen."

For all the reasons, I must confess that I was somewhat dubious when I heard the contemporary costumes chosen by the Vieux-Colombier. According to Director Esquiviela, the essential selves of the characters should be revealed by stripping their wigs from them. I am not so sure.

Though Jacques Dumesnil, Madame Dumesnil, and M. François and Jean-Pierre Delage gave a superb demonstration of their talents, though the play in its contemporary "mise en scene" was extremely alluring and arousing, one could repeat, perhaps, that this symbolic value has somehow disappeared. By losing its outdated costumes, its ribbons, laces, jewels, hats, and other mythical ornaments, Le Misanthrope has become a 20th century Parisian "boulevard" play.

Many like it better that way and thought Moliere's intention to write about his own contemporaries were rediscovered and restored. They certainly were. We had a good laugh at the restoration was striking. But those people in love with the myth of Célimène will perhaps not be quite pleased.

Fortunately, you could always close your eyes and listen to those four remarkable actors I have named. The words were there, beautifully delivered, and the comic power and the sadness, and the mythical echo.

"DON JUAN" REWARDS
Chapel Prod. Given: Bertrand St. John. The production was delighted with the Chapel Deacons' production of "Don Juan in Hell." The idea of playing out Shaw's irreverencies about the merits of hell before the crucifix and altar of a Christian church is delicious.

The production arranged to bring Mr. Shaw's words to life is really a very good one. The undergraduate producers have chosen to mount this portion of "Man and Superman" in costume. They use Mozart's music to good effect and they achieve some nice things with the lighting at their disposal.

After the audience has settled into the chaises longues, there begins overhead croaks spilling out into the main chapel, all the lights go out and the solemn D minor chord that opens the Music of the Gods begins again, echoes through the choir. The audience sits in total darkness listening to Mozart, and when the "curtain" is lifted, we see Don Juan.

The action in this production represent a wide range of experience. Of the four, Michael Culman as the Don and Ernest Battaglia as the Duke, are, by far the best. Mr. Culman, a member of the class of 1960, is fiery and articulate, although his deliveries are marred by an unceasing habit of taking a sharp gasp of breath after each sentence. He projects Shaw's words and thoughts admirably.

Mr. Battaglia, one of two cast members who are past the undergraduate stage, is a hearty Staine; hirsute, military and roguish. He is, perhaps, the most pleasant of the four actors.

Er. Robin Swigart is less effective than the Duke, exhibiting more pettiness than one usually associates with the role. Shulamith Orenstein seems miscast as the aristocratic conservative, Dona Ana.

The director, Montague Davies, '60, is faced with the problem of keeping things moving throughout a taky play. The device of a lecturer is probably the best way to solve this problem, but the Deacons have decided against that.

A "stage" set between the stalls of a choir is essentially a theater-in-the-round, a squared circle, so to speak. The Deacons must now tie the lines to each of the two sides, and unfortunately, this doesn't always happen in "Don Juan." Shaw has a long speech in which he begins sitting down with his back to his audience. Most of the time, of course, this doesn't happen and the audience is so close to the players anyhow that it hardly matters when it does occur.

Another problem facing Mr. Davies is the problem of the silent listeners. What, if you aren't using a lecturer, should you have poor Dona Ana do during all those silent moments? Mrs. Oppenheimer, made speechless by Mr. Davies, tries to look interested, but Mr. Davies might have given her a little something to do — say, a fan to flutter.

There are small points, however. The production, which will be given again in Chapel this Saturday, is great fun to watch and to hear. Shaw's lines, spoken with the youthful exuberance of the undergraduate, sound immediate and fresh. The Deacons deserve applause.

"MARCO POLO" NEXT

In Children's Series. Children from 6 to 12 will get a glimmer into the mysteries of the Orient in the next program in the Children's Entertainment Series sponsored by the Princeton English Dept. It's about "Marco Polo" which tells of the adventures in China of that well-known traveler, will be presented Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. in McCarter Theatre.

BEYOND "50"

New Sub-teen Shop. Allen's, which has devoted itself with touching single-mindedness over the years to the toddler-to-size 14, has now enlarged its scope to include the most difficult of all sizes: the sub-teen.

These girls, who used to be theorphans of the fashion world, now have a pretty, not little, family. Clothes are designed especially for their exasperating figure problems and, if ever there is even more to the point, the clothes have flair.

For example: Armel and cotton combine in a collection of separates featuring slacks, shirts, Bermudas, permanently pleated skirt and ribbed stretch overblouse. The color is beige, the decoration is a jaunty sport ear fastened on left shoulder and on the leg of the Bermudas.

Slacks and shirts in Madras are cut with the same distinction as an adult Madras. A shirtwaist dress has just as much flair as it would if it were an adult size 12. Looks are white, permanently pleated skirt in arms, and ask yourself whether anything could be more sophisticated.

Or if you're the baby doll type who not have a pink or blue romper, a pretty outfit for tennis? It's sleeveless. Bathing suits are lastex, orange knit or cotton, done in severe tank style for serious swimmers, or with a trim, wide skirt for girls whose minds are elsewhere.

In the dress department, there is an olive green with Berlitz designs and black rick-rack trim around the waist, a wide sleeve and a scoop neck. And a shirtwaist made in a patchwork of plaid squares, a "party" dress of white nylon organza over pale blue with a wide belt flowing from a wide negundy collar.

Sub-teen underwear is perhaps the most important thing in this new department at Allen's. There are first bra slips, girdles and special nylon hoseies designed for young colts who sometimes have just legs. Accessories, too: flower headbands for the hatsless 15-year-old, flowered bathing caps and lots of charm bracelets.

Chippendale and Lowestoft.
Fine antiques from the shops of dealers who are known throughout the country will be shown and offered for sale at the Wellesley Club's Antiques Show and Sale, to be held next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Princeton County Day School.

The show will open at 11 a.m. every day and will close at 10 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday and at 6 p.m. on Thursday. Luncheon and tea will be served daily.

The gymnasium at the school will be filled with booths set up by dealers who are particular about the pieces they will be displaying. In some cases, arrangements will be assembled to show off the fine pieces which dealers have brought to display and sell.

One of the country's finest collections of Oriental Lowestoft dating before 1800, will be shown by

Have A Coke

There are plenty of attractive sub-teen clothes in the new department at Allen's to lure anyone they will fit, but just to make sure, Allen's has free cokes. Temporarily, of course.

The new sub-teen "Heaven" has been carved out in the right rear corner of the shop, fenced in with sprightly blue lattice-work and designed to be completely "on its own."

Such a place, with the shirts and pedal-pushers, swigging coke, will find that they are screened with privacy, drawn round all their own space to wander about, a feeling of perfect seclusion. Better stop in soon while the cokes are still there!

Mrs. Elsie A. Gordon, well-known collector, and the people who would like to be collectors but who content themselves with "Antiques" magazine. Sutton's Antiques in Basin Ridge, will show a collection of antiques and doughbox and a Pennsylvania cherry chest with random drawers.

Proceeds from the show (admission is $1) will be used for the May, May, May, Fine Arts Scholarship Fund, sponsored by the Wellesley Club of Central New Jersey, and to support increases in faculty salaries.

Brundage Antiques, from Buckingham, Pennsylvania, will exhibit a particularly beautiful pair of Sandwich glass candlesticks, several charming 18th century needlework pictures and a Lowestoft tureen in the form of a setting hen.

On the stage of the gym there will be a room setting arranged by the Princeton Decorating Shop to display a mahogany grandfather clock, a small oval table about 1765, a small walnut candle-table from about the same period, a Chippendale loveseat with shaped back and rolled arm and a pair of silver torchieres from Austria.

Admission to the Show will be $1. The Wellesley Club believes that this is the first antique show in the Princeton area in about five years. It is most definitely not a "white elephant" sale: the pieces are first-rate and their antiquity undoubted.

News Of The Theatres

The play will be performed by The Traveling Playhouse, an adult group of actors who are known throughout the country for the high calibre of their plays. Their latest venture, "Solomon and Sheba," in addition to telling an exciting story, features exotic costumes and colorful scenery.

Admission may be obtained by writing Mrs. R. H. Parmenter, 175 Hamilton Avenue, Princeton, or by calling her at WA 4-0617 between 9:30 and 11:30 a.m. weekdays. Tickets will also be sold at the McCarter box office beginning at 1 p.m. on Tuesday.

SPANISH FILM HERE

To Be Shown in McCarter: "The Young and the Damned," a Spanish film which won an award for direction at a recent Cannes Film Festival, will be shown at McCarter Theater next Wednesday at 8 under the auspices of the Classic Film Club of Princeton University.

The film, directed by Luis Bunuel, is in Spanish with English subtitles. Admission to the McCarter showings for non-members of the club, is 50 cents.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Solomon and Sheba (March 16-22) is the only picture of the year in which God speaks to Yul Brynner. Aside from this, it has little to recommend it other than Miss Lollobrigida and a cast of more people than we ever want to see again at one time. Among them are George Sanders and Marisa Pavon.

The Queen of Sheba (March 16-22) is the only picture of the year in which God speaks to Yul Brynner. Aside from this, it has little to recommend it other than Miss Lollobrigida and a cast of more people than we ever want to see again at one time. Among them are George Sanders and Marisa Pavon.

The Queen of Sheba (March 16-22) is the only picture of the year in which God speaks to Yul Brynner. Aside from this, it has little to recommend it other than Miss Lollobrigida and a cast of more people than we ever want to see again at one time. Among them are George Sanders and Marisa Pavon.

THE GARDEN
Street of Shame (March 16-19) is a seedy and primitive social commentary and almost a documentary on the life of the Japanese prostitute. The film, released in Japan a year ago but mainly in this country, is credited with helping to bring about in that country's recent abolition of legal prostitution. Machiko Kyo, who appeared in "Rashomon" and "One Hour and Thirty Minutes," Japan's leading actress, is the star and the late Kenji Mizoguchi, who directed "Ugetsu," was the director.

The story occurs in the Yoshiwara red-light district in Tokyo, where four girls, including Miss Kyo, are the prostitutes of an establishment known as "Dame-land." The girls, who belie any romantic conceptions of the high life enjoyed by ladies of the evening, are grindingly poor and miserable, rarely earning enough money to retire the debts which they owe to the business. Their half-hearted attempts to quit, the naive posings of new arrivals who don't know what's in store for them and the general degradation of the prostitutes themselves are chronicled with stark and thought-provoking realism. Though some of the scenes are necessarily grim and stark, however, "Street of Shame" is almost the word advertisement the distributor could have. Recommended.

Call Me Madam (March 21), a 1953 release in Technicolor, is the screen adaptation of the successful Irving Berlin musical, and it stars Ethel Merman, Gerald O'Connor, Vic Ellen, George Sanders, Walter Steck and Billy de Wolfe. Sol C. Siegel was the producer and Walter Lang directed.

The plot, a thinly fictionalized account of Perle Mesta's exploits as U.S. ambassador to Luxembourg, is a bit of well-needed blend of matronly romance and cocktail party party affairs. Our enthusiasm for Miss Merman generally holds, but the girl she's dishing up makes a charmingly effusive "Hostess with the Mostes" in the Ball." The songs include "It's a Lovely Day Today," "The Best Thing for You Would Be Me" and "You're Just in Love." Recommended.

No Escape (March 22-26), a sordid little number in French with English titles, stars Ral Vallone, Magali Noël, Charles Vanei and Betty Schneider. Charles Brahan directed.

In an old refinery town, Vanei is a boarding-house landlord who has designs on Miss Noël, the attractive widow of his dead son. Vanei, however, is well-meaning with the house and with him, and the maid (Miss Schneider) adds a foreboding touch by openly hating everyone and everything. In fact, this Gallic sordid comedy Vallone, an escaped criminal, travelling incognito. He and Miss Noël immediately start an affair which is promptly reported to Vanei — Miss Schneider, who has learned Vallone's true identity. To protect her lover, Miss Noël agrees to romance with Vallone, but he is discovered and Vallone by convincing Vanei she and Vallone are dead. If you've followed the plot so far, you've probably enjoyed the film. As in many foreign dramas, the acting is unrelievably serious and intense.

SIX PAY TRAFFIC FINES

Two for Careless Driving. Delfino Palumbo, 26, of 222 Harrison Street, and Paul Hanape, 25, of the Graduate College, were each fined $15 by Magistrate Theodore T. Tamm in court for careless driving. Mr. Hanape paid his fine and Mr. Palumbo denied the charge.

In other cases, Robert E. Shirley, 29, of 1 Shirley Court, was fined $25 forreckless driving; William A. Muller, 33, of 116 Leigh Avenue, paid a $15 fine for following too closely another car. Mrs. Bessie Shanahan, 22, of Trenton's Princeton Road and Peter Roman, 23, of 229 John Street each paid $10 fines—Mrs. Shanahan for failing to have her registration in her possession and Mr. Roman for having no driver's license.

FIRES TAKE TWO LIVES

In Monmouth Junction, Two Monmouth Junction residents who lived in the same apartment within two days of each other, when fires broke in their homes.

Mrs. Catherine Maruszewski, 69, left her home on Grand Hill Road on Sunday, but returned to obtain insurance policies and other papers, and was trapped by the flames. Her son, Joseph Maruszewski, was admitted to the New Brunswick Hospital. New Brunswick, with severe burns. Charles Weber, fire department foreman, suffered bad burns on his hands. The house was destroyed.

Early Tuesday morning, a fire started in the home of Adam L. Bardowski, on New Road. Firemen carried the 52-year-old man from the house, but their efforts to revive him to death were fruitless. The cause of death is unknown. A burning cigarette which ignited the living room couch was the apparent cause of the fire.

LIEGGIS NEW OWNERS

Of Yeoman's Liquor Store, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Lieggis, of 97 Grove Street, have purchased Yeoman's Liquor Store, 108 Nassau Street, from Mrs. Ethel Yeoman. The former owners of the Sunbeam Liquor Store, the Lieggis will retain the Yeoman name. They have lived here for over 14 years.

James McGuire, 88, Jefferson Road, who has been working at the store, a Princeton resident for 22 years, he has been with Yeoman's since 1959.

Mondone said that the Borough Police Committee, which is reviewing the case, has not yet taken further action on the incident.

CHEST X-RAYS FREE

This Friday, under the joint sponsorship of Mercer County and the Mercer County Tuberculosis and Health League, a mobile X-ray unit will be available in front of the First Presbyterian Church this Friday from 10 to 3:30, and in the Shopping Center from 4 to 6 in the evening.

Free chest X-rays will be available to all Princeton residents. The Princeton survey is part of the county-wide drive to eliminate or control persistent pockets of tuberculosis in various parts of the county and to prevent the spread of infection.

Arrangements for the X-rays were made through Borough Mayor Raymond F. Male, David Blake and Mrs. Marcella Farley, Borough and Township Health officers.

TO DISCUSS WELFARE

On State Line, Richard Frost will speak on "Tooling Up for the Future in State Personal Care Services" at an open meeting of the Council of Community Services to be held next Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. in the auditorium of the Riverside School.

Dr. Frost will describe the work of the New Jersey Commission of which he was state director. The Commission recently completed a study of the various agencies in the state which deal with mental health and correction. Laymen and social workers have expressed interest in the Commission report because of the question it raises about the need for centralized control of these agencies.

Three other Princeton residents besides Dr. Frost served on the Commission. They were Edward S. Greenbaum, William H. Johnson and Burkhardt Henry.

PTA WILL MEET

To Discuss Curriculum Change. Why the Township Schools' new social studies curriculum was revised and how it now differs from that of many other schools will be the topic of discussion at a joint meeting of the Valley Road, Littlebrook Parent-Teacher Association meeting Tuesday at 8 in the Valley Road School auditorium.

Under the direction of Dr. John McKenna, the program will feature demonstrations of different approaches by Mrs. Leah Riddle, Mrs. Carlotta Johnson and Mrs. Barbara Lober, and a class demonstration by Mrs. Barbara Lober and her eighth grade class. Exhibits of social studies materials for each grade will also be on display.

Mrs. Miriam Metzger, Mrs. Alice Brees and Mrs. Lober are in charge of arrangements.

esses for the evening. They will be assisted by Mrs. F. Ray Barnard, Miss Elizabeth Crawford, Mrs. O. C. and Ruth Mrs. Helmut Wakesham, Mrs. Margaret Werner and Mrs. Hardy Wickham.

Dr. Dix was appointed by the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to the United States National Commission for UNESCO in 1958 and is currently serving as chairman.

TO DISCUSS HOUSE TOUR

At Holyoke Alumni Meeting. The Women's Business Club of the Princeton - Princeton Mount Holyoke College Alumni Club will be held Wednesday evening at 8:15 at the home of Mrs. Frederick Pohemus, 65 Westcott Road.

Main attraction of the weekend was a construction of an 18-foot tower, made by lashings and spars together. A 10-foot improvised flagpole was also built on top of the tower.

Herb S. Bailey, Troop chairman, and Scout Master Robert H. Sly led the trip. Heading the patrols were First Class Scout Peter Sly, Acting Patrol Leader Jim Bailey, First Class Scout Jack Baker, Senior and Senior Patrol Leader Jim Woodward.

MEETING THURSDAY

For English Speaking Union. Mrs. Dorothy James will give a talk entitled "Reminiscences of members of the Princeton Branch of the English Speaking Union." The meeting at 8 p.m.

Mr. Robert R. talk will follow a tea to be held at the home of Miss Marietta Atwood, 21 Monroe Place. All members are invited.

FRIDAY—TIME TO SPEAK

On French Writers. Professor Germaine Bree, chairman of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, will talk at New York University, with talk on "New Novel in France" next Wednesday, 8:30 in 10 McCosh Hall. In covering the so-called "nouveau roman," she will stress the work of such writers as Marguerite Duras, Robert Grillet, Sarraute and Duras.

These authors are attempting to liberate the French novel from its past traditions, and to show a disintegration of society which they claim is more objective. Miss Bree has written numerous articles and books on Gide, Proust and Camus, and has taught at Bryn Mawr, Wellesley and Mid-dury Colleges.

HOW TO BE A VOLUNTEER

Training Session Scheduled. The Association of Princeton women—the A.P.W., the League of Women Voters and the American Association of University Women—have joined to sponsor a volunteer training day which will be held at the Princeton Club, Monday, March 28, from 9:30 until 2:30.

Invitations have been issued to all members of the three sponsoring organizations, and the presentation of the work of the organization in Princeton including church groups, fraternal organizations, university clubs and so on. Mrs. Mary C. Meyer is chairwoman.

The day will begin at 9:30 with registration and coffee followed at 10:30 by five "Technique Training Round-tables." These will adjust for each table at 12:30 p.m. Guest speaker at the luncheon will be Mrs. Robert Meyner. The five round-tables will be devoted to "Planning an Effective Chairwoman," "Handling the Press," "Publicity," "Public Relations and Publicity," "Human Resources" and "Discussion Techniques."

All details of your wedding arranged for you! We will direct your rehearsal, provide a full band, a piano, a wedding cake, invitations, flowers, and orchestra; also, your formal attire, photo session, and wedding shots. NIKON OVER KENNEDY: Carl Pope goes along with most other Princeton area residents in his opinion that Nixon and Kennedy were to oppose each other in November. For his and the choice of others in this advance Presidential derby, see below. (Staff Photo.)

Question of the Week

Question: Senator Kennedy has scored what appears to be a personal triumph in the New Hampshire Primary. If he and Vice-President Nixon were to vie for the presidency in November, which would you vote for and why?

Where asked: At the Post Office.

Mrs. William Cormack, 41 Butcher Road, Princeton: I would vote for Vice-President Nixon. He is probably one of the first vice presidents we have ever had who has had a thorough training to be president. To me, he is a statesman and not just a politician. I have nothing against Kennedy but I feel Nixon is the better qualified person.

Dr. Harold E. Asbury, 10 Bayard Street, physician: Personally I am a Republican and I think Nixon would be more likely to keep this country away from the danger of inflation, to see that we are provided with an adequate defense, to solve the farm mess

Mrs. Francis Kinsler, 38 Alexander Street, minister: Nixon for me. I think he has more experience than Kennedy. He is considerably younger for the presidency but he is better qualified for the position based on his relationship with President Eisenhower and Vice-President Nixon. He would have more favor in the diplomatic field as evidenced by his extensive training as vice-president.

Rev. Francis Kinsler, 38 Alexander Street, minister: Nixon for me. I think he has more experience than Kennedy. He is considerably younger for the presidency. I like the policies that President Eisenhower has set up and I think Nixon will carry them out.

Mrs. Edward Hotz, Pen Lot 1 Road, Princeton Junction, housewife: I think I would vote for Nixon. He has gained a lot of valuable international experience under Eisenhower who is well equipped to deal with the Russians. I believe he has done a good job and worked hard as vice-president.

Beau Luckey, student at Westminster Choir College: I think Nixon would be my choice. I feel Nixon has more international experience for one thing. And I would say he is more educated in world affairs than Kennedy is.

Mrs. Edward Eriksen, 70 Heath Lane, housewife: I would vote for Kennedy because he is the better of your two bad, hypothetical choices.

Mrs. Pope, 415A Devereux, assistant to the Director of the Bureau of Student Aid, Princeton University: Nixon. Even though he is not what I would call an executive, Nixon has more of this ability than Kennedy. He is more experienced in politics and that is what I would commonly consider them, but Nixon has the edge in executive ability which the White House demands.

Mr. David Jones, Great Road, Princeton: I am a Republican and I work for the Republicans. I live in New York City as a district captain so naturally I'd be in favor of Nixon. I think Kennedy is a very interesting candidate, however.

Donald Tamm, 6 Southern Way, P. M. I. maintenance man: I'd vote for Kennedy. He has a good record, he's been on many committees and he seems to get things done. He has done well in everything he's attempted.

Donald A. K. Hopewell, master sergeant, U. S. Army: I'd vote for Nixon because I feel his experience as a vice-president makes him a better man for the job. During President Eisenhower's term, Nixon had the opportunity to sit in the President's chair. Personally, I think Nixon would pick a more able Cabinet than Kennedy would and no president is any better than his Cabinet.

Mrs. Donald W. Stake, Main Street, Lawrenceville: I would vote for Nixon because I feel he is better qualified for the position based on his relationship with President Eisenhower and Vice-President Nixon. He would have more favor in the diplomatic field as evidenced by his extensive training as vice-president.

Rev. Francis Kinsler, 38 Alexander Street, minister: Nixon for me. I think he has more experience than Kennedy. He is considerably younger for the presidency. I like the policies that President Eisenhower has set up and I think Nixon will carry them out.

Mrs. Edward Hotz, Pen Lot 1 Road, Princeton Junction, housewife: I like Kennedy but I feel Nixon has had more experience and is the better candidate for that reason.

William A. Garrigues, 18 Springfield Road, associate with the business interests: I would vote for Nixon for several reasons: I consider our own international relations and the whole world situation to be top priority. Nixon has the experience and here Nixon has the advantage of unusually thorough training by President Eisenhower whom I greatly respect. Also, Nixon has handled with skill and tact the numerous difficult foreign missions on which he has been sent. In addition, Nixon favors some economic policies and development within our country. He is intelligent, honest, hard-working and conservative. This does not mean like his handling of foreign situations but I am willing to give him the benefit of the doubt that he did the best that could be done under the circumstances.

Mrs. Olive LaRouche, The Great Road: Mrs. Nixon because he has more experience. He knows what the job is about and what it entails.

K. Braddock Dismore, Lawrenceville, insurance salesman: Nixon. I think he has more foreign experience than Kennedy. He is tall and some marvelous training in foreign service.

Mrs. Lucy Mettee, 6 Maplewood Road, secretary: Nixon because he is more capable for the job. He has been our representative to other countries and I think he has handled foreign situations very diplomatically.

Walter Baumgarten, Neshanic Station, retired engineer: I believe we have had quite good government up to now with the Republicans. The Democrats, to me, are too much on the reactionary side. I'm satisfied with the things the way they are my choice would be Nixon.

IT'S ALL FOR WELLLESLEY. Adrienne d'Welllesley, who lives in the center New Jersey town, has been busy for the past few weeks planning a show and sale of fine antiques. The show will be held at Princeton Country Day School March 22, 23 and 24. (For additional information, see "It's New To Us" on page 7.) The committee in charge are: Mrs. John G. Gurn, left, chairman of the event; Mrs. William A. Stuart, dealer chairman and Mrs. Gerrish Thurber, president of the Welllesley Club of Central New Jersey. (Staff Photo)

It's New To Us

this Saturday and continuing to April 2.

Mrs. Lee has lived abroad for many years, and last fall she saw her first American autumn in almost a dozen years. Her impression of Bayard Lane, framed with an arch of flaming gold trees, will surely find a place above some Princeton mantel.

She was also impressed anew with the Jersey flats, of all things, and there are two "mystical"—the word is Mrs. Lee's—scenes of Newark. One is a sketch of the same tree without its leaves, displaying the bare bones of its intricately twining branches.

One of the most dramatic oils is a Torero in red against a brassy yellow, which fills the entire canvas. Mrs. Lee has done some figure in oil, too, their stylized postures giving them the air of arists' figures.

Some of Mrs. Lee's works will be for sale; others will be for display only, like the charming autumn scene with its rambling old white house and its playful children. The warm portrait of the child standing by the tree.

A graduate of the Maryland Institute of Art, Mrs. Lee has had one-man shows in Rome and in Baltimore. The Peale Museum in Baltimore owns one of her paintings.

If You're in a Jam, Here I Am. What the AAA is to motorists and the Diners Club to travelling gourmets, the Round-the-Horizon Association is to stay-at-homes.

This organization, with headquarters at 76½ Nassau, (WA-4110), will provide its subscribers with the comfort of knowing that between 10 a.m. and 2 a.m. there is a day every day in the week to damp up a bursting water heater, or clean a lampshade. On tap service, so to speak.

A subscriber pays $10 for his first year's membership. After that, the annual dues are $5 a year. He is billed monthly by the year.

AHA at prices quoted by the repairman before the job is done.

This means that a subscriber not only has help at his fingertips at 3 a.m., he also has the assurance that he will not be cheated by unscrupulous repairmen, or charged exorbitant fees for coming to the house at odd hours (and home emergencies are ALWAYS peculiar odd hours). All the repairmen and repairmen on the AHA lists have been screened for workmanship and dependability, so you know that you're getting a good and honest man when you place your call.

The list of services offered by AHA is incredibly long. Aside from the usual help offered to repairmen of household plumbing and sanitary appliances, AHA has firms that will repair musical instruments, clean Venetian blinds, repair zippers, mend a dance hall, repair veils for your cat, clean the chimney, remove heat, tear down or just move a whole house.

The service has particular appeal to families whose chief problem is the care of children, a great deal. It is also a wonderful help to women who live alone. And if you've gone out for the evening, you can leave the AHA number next to your telephone so that the baby-sitter will know whom to call if fuses begin to blow.

800 VOLUNTEERS AT WORK
On Red Cross Campaign. More than 800 volunteers are currently at work on the drive for members and funds. As recently conducted by Princeton Red Cross Chapter, it was announced last week by Jerald S. Hanks, general campaign chairman. Mr. Hanks spoke at a dinner meeting of Princeton at Lutheran Church of the Messiah. He said that this was 350 more workers than had been expected to help in the campaign. He congratulated the volunteers on their enthusiasm. Goal for the campaign, which will run until the end of March, is $13,500.

Other speakers at the meeting included James J. McFadden, Jr., chapter president; Miss Marjorie Howard, Eastern Red Cross Field Representative, and Mrs. Dorothy D. Clegg, chairman of volunteers for the Princeton Chapter. The 1960 campaign film, "My Kind of Story," was shown.

HECHINGER TO SPEAK
Monday at High School. Fred M. Hechinger, education editor of The New York Times, will speak Monday at 8:15 p.m. at a public lecture at the Princeton High School auditorium. The lecture is being sponsored by the Princeton Borough Teachers' Association.

Topic of Mr. Hechinger's talk will be "Goals for Tomorrow." Well-known in educational circles, he was education editor of the Bridgeport (Conn.) Herald and the New York Herald Tribune before coming to The Times. He has also served as education editor of Parents' Magazine and is the author of two books, "An Adventure in Education: Connecticut Points the Way," and "The Big Red Schoolhouse."

ARNOLD NAMED PRESIDENT
OF MFG. CO. OF AMERICA. Grand James A. Arnold, Jr., of 223 Edgerton Road has been elected president of the board of directors of the Central New Jersey Chapter of the National Mortgage Service Society. Chosen vice-president was Dr. Milton G. White of 124 Quaker Road.

Other Princetonians named to the board of directors are John F. McAndrew, 225 Edgerton Road; Mrs. Thomas C. Roberts, 32 Hodge Road, and Mrs. Minot C. Morgan, Jr., 36 Mercer Street.

ISRAEL POLITICS TOPIC: Of Hadassah Meeting. "The Politics of Democracy in Israel" will be the topic of a talk by Professor Mayer Bernstein to be given next Wednesday, at a meeting of the Princeton Chapter of Hadassah. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at Princeton Jew-

THE FLAG IS OUT! For the first time this winter, the white flag with the red ball was unfurled at the corner of Nassau and Witherspoon, signaling the season's first "safe skating" on Lake Carnegie. Lieut. Peter
 J. O'Farrell, captain of the Borough Police force (above), plants a different kind of flag on the lake to mark the limits of safety. Denny Fernandez, upper left, is pretty small for those single runners, so he takes to the double runners of a sled when he gets tired. Sled skaters, including the author (right), line up in the icy sunshine for a brisk race down the lake (center).
 Young Teddy Ford prepares to apply stick to puck, but George Ford thinks it might be more fun to apply his hockey stick to Teddy (lower left).

TO EXHIBIT FOSSIL LIFE

Unearthing in University Digging. Excavations for new buildings on the Princeton University campus have yielded material for a fossil exhibit, which will be held in the University's Museum of Natural History in Guyot Hall.
 The exhibition, which includes a bone from a pre-historic reptile, a fossil from the Cretaceous, and a specimen of the various types of construction stone used in the University's $33 Million "Princeton" building program, will be open to the public every day except Sunday from 9 to 4 through April.

A fossil bone of the reptile Clesysaurus was found by Professor T. J. (Tom) Saito, Japanese Special Professor of Vertebrate Paleontology and who has arranged the exhibition, only a few feet from the offices of the Department of Geology. The Clepsysaurus, who reigned more than 270 million years ago, resembles its modern day nephew, the crocodile. With its mouth lined with sharp, serrated teeth, and its nostrils located high on its snout so it could lie in the water and be almost invisible to its victims, the Clepsysaurus preyed on small fish and game.

Report from THE MAYOR

On The Agenda. On Tuesday, March 22, Mayor and Council will meet for the third time this month to transact important business. On the agenda will be public hearings on a proposed water rate increase in the water system, proposed increases in alcoholic beverage license fees, a proposed increase in the annual taxi license fee, and the final determination of property owners' assessments for sidewalk improvements on Hamilton Avenue.

Last Tuesday, the Council spent more than four hours in session on a host of Borough problems; and then reconvened on Saturday for a special one-hour session to act upon a resolution concerning state for the proposed highway. The resolution, presented by Councilman Coyle on the Future of Princeton, was amended to include some additional items, and was as arranged by the commissioners of the Borough Housing Authority. After discussion which again saw Council endorsing the scattered site principle, the resolution was adopted.

A Record Month. February was a record month for the Public Library. The highest single month's circulation of books — 18,064 — February 23 — circulation totalled 1,145, making that tiny library of a library.

The librarian's report also shows township registrations exceeding borough registrations by a total of forty-one. The borough-

Children and Youth. The White House Conference on Children and Youth is holding its forty-first year for a nationwide discussion concerning children's needs. The Mayor is looking forward to participation in the 1960 sessions beginning March 27 in Washington.

It is a privilege to be part of the New Jersey delegation which will be exchanging views with citizens from all walks of life who share a deep concern for young people throughout the nation. In calling the 1960 conference, President Eisenhower pointed to the fact that "The rapidly changing times in which we live and the increasing pace of life make it incumbent upon us to do everything we can to plan ahead and to see that we prepare today's children well for life in tomorrow's world . . . ."

Operation Spring. Captain Sage, our John Borough-Township Disaster Control Coordinator, has notified the mayors of a state-wide public warning service to be conducted on Saturday, March 26.

The sirens will be sounded and the public will be required to take shelter. The operation is designed to test the search and warning communication net to evaluate the coverage of our sirens, to enlist full public cooperation and understanding of the signals, and to test our control center personnel.

Thursday Open House. The regular weekly "Tell It to the Mayor" sessions will be held on Thursday, March 17, and Thursday, March 24, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

A Thought to Chew On

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Judging from the correspondence that has ensued in your columns regarding the fluoridation issue and the lack of any published response on behalf of the opposition, pie in the support of a sane nuclear policy, it seems quite possible that before long we will all be cadavers with beautiful teeth.

Finds Society "Sick"

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I was simply appalled by the range of socially destructive answers which were rendered to your question concerning the abolition of the death penalty. (Town Topics, March 13-19.)

I do not wish to attack these people, as they answered in good faith based upon what they were told to them. However, I find the predominant tone of these answers as indicative of just how "sick" a society can become.

Contemporary criminology has pretty well established that the death penalty is not a success deterrent to crime in that over centuries of executing criminals, the rate of major crime has not significantly dropped, in fact has increased. Crime is a function of social disorganization and not of the existence of or lack of existence of death penalty.

I should really hate to be put into this panel of my peers for they represent a genuinely inhuman and unreasonable point of view. There are really people who don't deserve to live? What are they?

Are we to murder criminals because it costs too much to keep them in our jails? Are we to prove society by taking the life of the person who has committed murder? If so, how?

Is whipping a socially beneficial device? Why?

The Eskimos have a most unique penalty for the murderer; he must take the place of the person he murdered or at least provide a substitute. From the same source, an economic solution if this also fails, isn't this a more socially beneficial viewpoint?

I hope that any of the people who commented on your poll read this letter they either take the time to investigate some of the facts concerning contemporary criminological procedures or at least read some of the more basic and supposedly informed opinions concerning factor of primary significance for our society.

Should we murder an Einstein if he murders his solder? Should we murder his soldier who commits murder for his nation's glory and protection? Should we murder the mechanic who repairs our cars and has several children at home just because he becomes too obnoxious as to commit a major social wrong?

What is the value of the death penalty? Does it make our society stronger?

Crime is a real and serious problem but it cannot be prayer nor eluded away. It must be dealt with by competent people who are willing to research the causes of these social teachings and to investigate what various methods of criminal treatment actually mean for the prevention and rehabilitation of criminals. The only way to deal with this problem is to support serious study of these problems and to forego a new car next year for a potentially better and crimeless society next generation. If we are able to do this, I suggest that we aren't really concerned about crime except as it directly involves our personal lives.

For example, if we live in Philadelphia we ought to pour scalding water on our mischievous children and beat our wives. Then, surely crime would decrease and we could all be happy.

Does Capital Punishment Deter?
To the Editor of Town Topics:

A mobster kills for survival in his world of ruthless men. An enraged man kills vengefully. An insane man kills, dictated by his unhinged mind. Who, among these, reasons, "Society says it is wrong to kill; Society says it is wrong to murder; If I commit a murder, I may be condemned to die?"

Through the ages, crime has continued despite penalties. Various governments have tried capital, painful, extreme punishments: Offenders hands cut off, offending eyes gouged out, and other such. Is it that our present penal system is relatively harsh? No, we have become more rational, more civilized in our approach. We no longer cut off offending parts.

These and other cruel punishments have been discarded as inhuman relics of man's brutal vengeance and vengefulness. Such vengeance did not fight the wrongs, or inhibit future offenders. It only soothed righteous men's anger against criminal perpetrators.

Does society kill to punish? Does it seek revenge on the criminal? Does it wish to deter further crime? Does it wish to rid itself of human, financial and security problems?

It cannot be morally right to kill another person or to try to rid the state of a criminal. Capital punishment's only justification lies in its ability to deter further crimes. Thinking as a potential murderer, do you really believe the state's highest penalty would deter you?

Legal Lottery Flavored.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am so pleased that you quoted me in your article on the national and state lottery. Let me elaborate a bit on my statement and tell why I think a lottery should be legalized.

First of all, no one can be kept from gambling — everybody gambles in some way or another. Those who profit from unregulated gambling in this country are first of all big gamblers. It is a rare fact that like of the owners of "speakeasies" during prohibition times selling unlawful liquor. But the real difference is that the Government collects taxes from these gamblers and as a rule can only convict anyone of them on income tax evasion, no matter what hideous crimes are known to have been committed.

Switzerland, the most civilized country anywhere, allows lottery tickets to be sold in state offices and banks. They are given special permission, with signs indicating "lottery tickets for sale." Who doesn't buy a theater ticket for more than two times a month? Instead of allowing millions of dollars to go out of this country when we need the money for our own charities, education and tax base, we are very shortsighted to not pounce and stupid to work against legalized betting.

If anyone wins on an Irish Sweepstakes ticket the government is quickly to take a big slice from the amount for taxes and does not punish the winner by confiscating the whole amount or punishing the other losers bought a ticket from a bookie or some other illegal source. All that I can say is, that the entire system is deceitful and unworthy of this great country. It is often too free in some more injurious practices, which ought to be restrained by law.

Who are the forces against legalized gambling? First of all the gangsters or some private enterprise. Foreign citizens who like to see their countries helped and at the same time have a chance of winning a fortune. Well meaning religious groups all over this country, who consider gambling very wrong, but they will take chance and buy a "white elephant" at a church fair, carefully wrapped up in a beautiful package, hoping for something interesting but at the same time wanting to help their church or community.

I hope that Representative Paul A. Flanagan will support me. You will be supported in his effort to establish a national lottery. (We need a state lottery.) He estimates that $10,000,000 could be added to the U. S. Treasury year. This sum is worth taking care of and be used sensibly and constructively?

Fluoridation Opposed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

For those individuals who are somewhat negligent to fall for the one-sided propaganda put forward by the American Medical Association and the American Dental Association and would like to see both sides of the picture, I would like to present the fluoridation issue on the basis of scientific fact now available. I would suggest a trip to the library and a look at the literature on the question against fluoridation such as:

Journal of the American Water Works for April 1968 on "Toxicological Methods for Establishing Drinking Water Standards" in which we find that arsenic has a safety factor of 10 while Fluorine is so dangerous that it has a safety factor of zero as set by the U. S. Public Health Service. Dental Digest, February 1968, James G. Kerwin, D.D.S. discusses the startling and awesome discovery that a molecule of Strontium 90 and Fluorine in the body results in the formation of the compound strontium fluoride. Together these two elements become so soluble that they are separately.

MUSIC In Princeton

BIKEL CHARMED AUDIENCE

In McCarter Sunday. A brawny, heavy-set man in conservative grey business suit and a wide-brimmed fedora, and armed with a guitar and a sense of humor, won the hearts of Princetonians. The man was Theodore Bikel; the occasion his concert at McCarter Theater on Sunday afternoon, sponsored by Celebrity Series.

Although built for this appearance strictly as a folk singer, Mr. Bikel is something more than a "jack of all trades", being a successful stage, film and television actor, a radio performer, and a leading man of the theater. His current claim to fame, in addition, one must not overlook his linguistic gifts and three other talents which were exhibited during his performance on Sunday — guitar playing, harmonica playing and whistling.

Of all his gifts, however, there is one which endears him to his audience, all the rest: stage personality. He holds a group of listeners in his hands; he seems to know and love them, and carries them through many and varied past experiences and is able to evoke almost any audience response through his instinctive sensitivity to the type of group he is addressing.

Judging from his program and his remarks, Mr. Bikel's specialty seems to be Jewish folk music — and this befits his Israeli background and his great love of the old songs of the Hebrew tradition. However, one might have wished for a little more variety in the songs presented; there were, perhaps, too few songs in English for a taste of some. However, Mr. Bikel is surely to be admired for his seeming mastery of many languages, as shown in the occasional French, Russian, Spanish, Greek and Aramaic songs.

After the intermission, Mr. Bikel introduced Ray Bogoslov, who sang the melodic works for the remainder of the concert, rather unusual and perhaps unnecessary feature, it seemed, especially as Mr. Bikel seemed to be holding his own quite nicely up to that point. Mr. Bogoslov impressed all as being of the hip-swinging school of folk singers, but he is a competent guitarist, and he and his partner combined in some enjoyable duos, both in English and in foreign languages.

As for Mr. Bikel, he would certainly be a most pleasant addition to help tell the story of his life. Sunday's performance gave just an inkling of a rich and varied store of experiences, as well as a generous sample of a warm and fascinating personality.

SEGOVIA IN CONCERT: The renowned Spanish guitarist will play in McCarter Theatre Monday night.

In the Purcell work, a chamber orchestra will provide the accompaniment. Its members are Annette Rosset, Edith Colton, Victoria Pehta, Jean Underwood, Lewis Lovewell and Leo Taylor, all of Princeton; and Joseph Kalem, Kingston; Alan Warner, New Brunswick, and Everett Shaw, Pennington.

SEGOVIA WILL PLAY

In Final Series II Concert, Andres Segovia, classic guitarist who last year celebrated the 50th anniversary of his first public appearance, will play Monday, March 20, in McCarter Theater in the final concert of Series II of the Princeton University Concerts. His performance is scheduled for 8 p.m. Since Segovia's enthusiasm for the guitar goes back to his boyhood, he first heard the guitar when he was ten years old, and his determination to play it early led to devote his studies to the instrument. But the guitar had been forgotten as a concert instrument until the 19th century, and Segovia had to be a microscopist, teacher and student all at once in order to learn the instrument's polyphonic techniques and to revive its literature.

The artist has not only brought back to the concert repertoire the Renaissance and early Baroque music for guitar, but he has enriched the instrument's literature by making transcriptions and by giving commissions to composed. Many of his transcriptions are from vocal music. Thirteen eminent composers have written especially for him.

For his Princeton concert, he has chosen music which covers a span of 400 years and will attempt to play the music of Sanz, the 17th century Spanish guitarist, de Viseo, Johanna Sebastian Bach, Joseph Haydn, Beethoven and Schubert. The last named is one of Spain's most famous composers for the guitar. In addition, he will play music by Tansman, Tarrega, Albeniz and Castelnovo-Tedesco.

THEYLL SING TOGETHER
Smith and Princeton. The Smith College Choir and the Princeton University Glee Club will present a joint concert this Sunday, at 3:30 p.m., in McCarter Theater. Janice Harsanyi, Princeton soprano, will be soloist.

Purcell's "Dido and Aeneas," one of the finest English operas, will be heard in the first half of the program. Mrs. Harsanyi will sing the role of Dido. She will be joined again by "Helenae," a group of selections from "La Belle Helene," an operetta in which Jacques Offenbach satirizes the Trojan War.

Members of the Smith Choir will present the first Princeton performance of selections from "The Princess of Angeln" by the American composer, Ernst Bacon and the Smith-Princeton Madrigal Singers will sing a group of madrigals.

MUSIC CLUB TO MEET

For March Program, Members of the Princeton Music Club will gather next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. A. N. Spain, 344 Stockton Street, for program of music presented by members.

Miss Frances Crawford, Mrs. Jean Nichols, Mrs. Eugene Fasceu, Mrs. Teschner Tan, and Miss Rosemary Russell will perform. Hostesses will be Mrs. Thomas Huntington, Mrs. Matilde McKinney and Mrs. Lester Plum.

SPORTS In Princeton

TWO TIGERS NAMED
To All-Ivy Basketball Team. Captain Jim Brangan and sophomore Pete Campbell were unanimous selections on the All-Ivy Basketball Team, chosen by the coaches of the eight colleges. Brangan was named for the second year in a row, while Campbell (along with Brown's Mike Cingari) was chosen for the first time to make it since Carl Belz was chosen in his first year — 1955.

ounding out the quintet are George Faro, Cornell's sophomore, whose 40 points against Princeton set an Ivy League record, and Penn's Bob Mikvay. Mikvay, the Quakers' captain, chased the ball all through the season for individual scoring honors, finishing with 275 points and a 19.6 average. Campbell drew in 322, averaging 23 points a game, and was the first sophomore to top 300 in an Ivy season.

As might be expected, the Dartmouth Indians' disappointing performance in failing to repeat as champions after being so heavily favored to do so, represented them in the top five. Carl Chuck Kaufman, a first-team choice last year as a junior, dropped off to the second quintet.

Placing with him were teammate Gary Vandeweghe, Gary Borchard, Harvard's standout players, Ed Berenberg and Dick Rodie. As it turned out, though, the belief here is that he is the most underrated player in the league. Princeton's Don Swan did not earn a single All-Ivy honor, despite the fact that he averaged 13 points and a dozen rebounds per game. Swan, who this year was named captain to succeed Brangan, figures to play a major part in Princeton's campaign to repeat as league champions next season.

A Look Ahead. In that 1961 campaign, the Tigers will be confronted with much the same problem that Dartmouth failed to solve this year. The Indians lost Rudy Parker, the standout player who provided the ability and the cohesion that brought them the title in 1958. Princeton will lose Jim Brangan from its present championship quintet. "Only," of course, is a word used to indicate that Brangan (who this week won the Bunn Trophy for outstanding play and sportsmanship) is the lone senior on the team. Good enough to break into professional basketball if he chooses, but Tiger captain was largely responsible for leading a group of wholly inexperienced players from last to first place during the season. In the basic sense of the word, he is不可replaceable.

FOUR-RING CIRCUS: Four mats were used simultaneously in the early rounds of the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Tournament, staged last weekend in Dillon Gymnasium. Pittsburgh and Penn State tied for the title as the latter's heavyweight pinned his opponent from Brown in the last event of the two-day affair. Princeton scored only four points, placing 14th in the 16-team field. (Town Topics Photo by Richards)

If Campbell, Swan, Mike Burman and Tom Adams, the other four players who started the dormitory year, are all available next year, who will be the fifth player? It might be Ed Al Kaemmerlein, whose improvement before he went to graduate school in mid-February. It might be Art Hyland, who broke Campbell's record this winter, although his per-game average was not as high. It could be Andy Higgins, a junior who played well in a reserve capacity as the Tigers' second team. Higgins was strong to win their last seven league games. But whoever becomes the fifth man, the Tigers' big problem will be gaining increased ability from all four members of the 1961 team. No one player can fill Brangan's shoes.

RECORDS BROKEN

By Princeton Swimmers. Although they failed to place higher than third in any event, Princeton entries in the eastern intercollegiate swimming championships at Cornell last weekend made their best showing in the past five years. Two third and three fourth places came their way, and all Princeton records were broken. George Bailey took again lowered his time for the 400-yard free-style with a 4:14.6 clocking. Despite the fact that he cut four seconds off his best previous entries, he was second in the 200-yard event, lowering his mark by four-tenths of a second. He finished third at Harvard. In the fencing intercollegiates at New York, Coach Stan Sieja's entry won the eastern title for the first time in 20 years. Junior Frank Anger, the individual winner with this weapon, will be a member of the United States Olympic team this summer.

VAN GERBIG ELECTED

To Head Hockey Team. The vacant goal for the past two seasons, Barry Van Gerbig, will captain the 1960-61 hockey team. He succeeds John McBride, who shared the Blackwell Cup for outstanding play and sportsmanship with defenseman Tom Campbell. McBride this week was named unanimously to the All-Ivy team, which was dominated by three Dartmouth players. Van Gerbig was a repeat as second team goalie.

Hockey Prize

was shared by two Princeton area residents, Johnny Cook of Kingston and Austin Sullivan of

It Was a Record-Breaking Year

Six records were broken and another tied during the basketball season which came to a close last week. Five of them were set the night that Princeton defeated Cornell in Dillon Gymnasium for the Ivy League title:

The rundown:

Points, One Season: Pete Campbell (Old record held by Harold "Bud" Haahstad: 500, 1959 season) ... 501

Points in Ivy League, One Season: Campbell (Old record held by Farley, Cornell: 35, set Feb. 13, 1958) ... 322

Points by Sophomore in Ivy League: Campbell (Old record held by Chet Forte of Columbia: 296, 1955 season) ... 322

Points, One Game in Dillon Gym: George Farley, Cornell (Old record held by Fred Perkins, Princeton: 35, set Feb. 13, 1958) ... 47

Field Goals, One Game in Dillon Gym: Farley (Old record held by Haahstad: 14, set Jan. 15, 1954) ... 16

Free Throws, One Game in Dillon Gym: Farley (Old record held by Larry Gordon, Rutgers: 14, set March 3, 1954) ... 15

Free Throws, One Game: Jim Brangan, Feb. 13, 1960 (Tied record held by Fred Tritschler and Carl Belz) ... 12

PRIZE-WINNING CARNATIONS

Emil Baptiste of Croydon, N. J., who grows some of the country's finest carnations, has just entered the recent flower show at Philadelphia, winning approximately 80% of all the awards given for carnations.

We take particular pride in the fact that we have consistently placed first in the carnations at our flower shop for the last three years. There are no finer carnations available at any price.

In past years we say (1) We carefully do our flower arrangements, carefully as we do our carnations and (2) when we make arrangements for them, we have style.

Be convinced: drop in this weekend, special, ask to see our carnations and take a look at the hundred or more arrangements always on display in our shop.

SHALL WE GIVE IT AWAY?

This is practically what we're doing by offering this redwood ranch home at such a low price. Situated on one acre of wooded land with a brook in Princeton Township, this home has living room with one wall of glass, separate dining room, modern kitchen,
two full baths, three bedrooms;
one has built-in bunks and bookcases. A large terrace in front overlooks the brook and trees. As owners are leaving for California, this must be sold! Asking $25,500.

The Responsibility of Building

A position of leadership in building is attained through recognition by the public of certain qualities and attributes.

To gain this responsibility of leadership, a builder must have the confidence of the purchasers and community it serves.

The PRINCETON CONSTRUCTION COMPANY has been privileged to share in the growth and development of one of New Jersey's finest residential areas, PRINCE-
